Henry tends his lavender collection in our exclusive NEW Gardener's Apron (for full details see back cover) - made of tough cotton canvas, with adjustable, double thickness straps, 2 deep tool pockets as well as a handy zipped pocket, it comes in two sizes and is sure to become another Norfolk Lavender classic...

...don't miss our exciting new range of Fragrant Gardener's "Usefuls" on pages 20-24 - they make great gardening gifts.

Welcome

Every minute, simply by breathing, you have 20 opportunities to enjoy fragrance. Now think of your garden, patio or window box as an opportunity to bring you both fragrance and colour, with the added advantages of texture and form - not all plants of the same species smell the same. For example, Sawyers lavender is quite different from Princess Blue.

This catalogue brings you 59 ways to do that. [Of these 26 new this year]. Use it "to cement old friendships" and make "new acquaintances" which, with time, may become old friends.

We have included Fragrant Border Collections, page 13, to suit all sizes of garden [complete with a FREE planting plan].

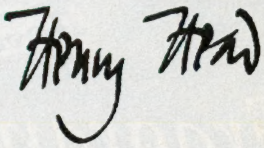
Finally, on pages 20, 21, 22 and 24 there are our Fragrant Gardener's "Usefuls". Unique to us, they are smart, highly practical and, above all, made to last.



Henry Head
Managing Director

P.S. Often plants are best in clumps of three. To help you, there is a special price for three of many plants. Look for them and our Collections.

P.P.S. Now make yourself a promise, take time off to visit us in '99. Our lavender fields are a wonderful sight and our four acre Fragrant Garden burgeons beautifully.

Our Selection of Lavenders

is featured on pages 3 - 7 and 11

Drawing on over 60 years of experience and the 120 lavenders in our National Collection, the first National Collection of Lavenders in Britain, we've chosen 14 representatives. All -

- are hardy to -5°C and probably lower than that in a sheltered garden
- have aromatic flowers and silvery foliage unless otherwise stated
- flower in mid summer although the stoechas varieties (page 11) will flower earlier and for longer if dead headed
- have a spread equal to their height, and the heights shown include flower and stalk
- are much loved by bees and butterflies
- can be used in cooking, pot pourri and dried flower arrangements

Lavenders have an unfair reputation for becoming large and woody. Like dogs, there is no such thing as a bad lavender; only a bad owner. Prune them back after flowering and they will give many years of fragrant delight.

Hedges of Lavenders

A traditional garden feature for which we specially recommend our 8 bare-root varieties which are featured on pages 6 & 7.

Fragrant Gardener's "Usefuls"

GARDENER'S APRON

When sailors climbed shrouds before the days of oilskins, they needed tough clothes to withstand harsh weather. Our Gardener's Apron is made of precisely this quality of material. A heavy 14 oz cotton canvas woven to withstand the vilest conditions. This apron will last and last like no other you have tried before, and comes in 2 sizes: medium 81cm x 68cm/32" x 27" wide for people up to 5'7"/170cm tall, and large 91cm x 76cm/36" x 30" wide for people over 5'7"/170cm tall. (Don't miss our page 2 photograph of Henry tending his lavender collection in his Apron)

- a zipped pocket: enables you to keep your car keys, spectacles etc with you in the garden without the danger of them falling out and being lost in the Eucryphia
- 2 tool pockets: seriously sensible, these are perfect for secateurs, large spotted hankies, balls of twine, plant labels - and there is still room for the mobile phone
- unique double thickness adjustable straps: of the same fabric as the bib pocket, and twice as strong. Unlike any other apron I have seen, ours is completely adjustable. Just slide the apron up and down the strap for extra coverage above or below the waist, depending on whether you are working at the potting bench or kneeling in the border.
